

Chapter Six – Side by Side

1. Why are “needy, humble helpers” the best ones?
2. Let us go through the four steps of paragraph two and review the major truths presented in the book so far.
3. Is it harder for you to ask people for help than it is to ask God for help? Why or why not?
4. While the focus of the chapter is asking others to help you by praying for you, what other ways can we help each other when life is hard or our hearts are busy?
5. When you ask for help in prayer is it usually for circumstances or for matters of the heart that sit below the surface? Why are both necessary?
6. Note the burden/Scripture pattern on page 61. Respond with Scriptural ways to pray for those with the following burdens:
  - A. I am not sure what college or career path to follow now that I am out of high school. _____
  - B. I am having a hard time showing kindness to my loud, unruly, and obnoxious neighbors. _____
  - C. I often feel underappreciated for all the work I do for others and wish someone would express gratitude for all I am doing.

7. Once help comes (our prayers are answered) what monuments can we build like the Israelites did in Joshua 4:1-7?
8. Why do we not always express gratitude to God and to others when our prayers are answered? What steps can we take to insure that we express our gratitude more regularly?
9. Why do spiritual matters deserve top priority when it comes to giving thanks (or do they)?
10. How often and in what ways do you proclaim God’s faithfulness to others?
